Russell 3,000 Votes to Good in Returns Received From Sixty-Five Counties.

Application for recount of the ballots in the Fourth congressional district is asked in a formal written application filed with the state election board this morning by Congressman William H. Murray, who on the face of returns, has been defeated for the democratic congressional nomination by Tom D. McKewon of Ada by a majority of 279 votes.

Murray alleges that numerous "errors, irregularities and mistakes" were committed by precinct election boards in Seminole, Pontotoc, Oklahoma, Hughes and Creek counties.

In several instances, he alleges, votes cast for either him or H. H. Smith of Shawnee were counted for McKewon. According to Murray's allegations there was a total of 946 votes cast in different precincts throughout the district for either him or Smith which were "erroneously" counted by precinct election boards for McKewon.

Mr. Murray was in the city this morning and personally filed the application with Harry Beller, republican, and the only member of the election board in the city today.

Murray's Statement.
Mr. Murray stated that he felt sure a recount would change the result and show that he was the nominee. Discussing his application, he said:

"The friends of Judge McKewon claimed the nomination on the canvass made by the county election boards by a vote of 292. It will be, therefore, observed that a change of 150 votes from him to me would change the result. I am reasonably sure of effecting this change by a recount in either Pontotoc or Seminole counties. No, I do not wish to be understood as charging the election officers generally with being dishonest or unfair. The work was done by the counters, and the other election officers were either obliged to accept their statements or recount the ballots.

In Pontotoc County.
